Scoring and Interpretation Information

Scores are presented as a total score (0 to 40) as well as a mean score (between 0 - 4). Higher scores indicate higher levels of general psychological distress, where a total score of 11 or above is within the clinically significant range.

Two percentile ranks are also presented, allowing comparison of scores with a Clinical Sample and the General Population. Higher percentiles represent higher levels of distress compared to the comparison group. A percentile of 50 for the Clinical Sample is typical of those receiving psychological treatment (approx. total score of 20), with the same score being above the 99th percentile compared to the General Population.

Scores can be put into the following categories:

- Less than 10 - non-clinical range
- 11 to 14 - mild psychological distress
- 15 to 19 - moderate psychological distress
- 20 to 24 - moderate-to-severe psychological distress
- 25 or above - severe psychological distress
