Scoring and Interpretation Information

Scores for the five areas of aggression measured are presented. Scores range from 0 - 12. Higher scores are indicative of more frequent and/or severe aggressive behaviours. The five areas of aggression are:

1. Verbal aggression towards others (Items 1-4)
2. Verbal aggression towards self (Items 5-8)
3. Physical aggression against other people (Items 9-12)
4. Physical aggression against objects (Items 13-16)
5. Physical aggression against self (Items 17-20)

A graph is presented to compare the five areas when first administered and when administered more than once a graph is presented to easily demonstrate change over time.

Additionally, Cohen et al. (2010) identified two clusters that are made up of the five areas of aggression:

1. Overt Aggression cluster (composed of Physical aggression against objects, Physical aggression against other people, and Verbal Aggression Toward Others areas of aggression)
2. Self Destructive cluster (composed of Physical aggression against self and Verbal aggression toward self)

These are presented as an average score between 0 - 3, calculated by the sum of the items in each cluster divided by the number it items. Average scores allow for comparison between the two clusters to determine if aggression is more overt or self-destructive in nature and to tailor treatment appropriately.

If administered more than once, a graph will be presented to visualise change in these clusters over time.
