Interpretation

The norms used to calculate percentiles and descriptors were for boys between 11-12 years of age.

Based upon these RCADS scores, this child is in the clinical range for Major Depression, Obsessive-Compulsive and Separation Anxiety. Therefore, the child is experiencing significant symptoms in these areas and requires treatment. The child is in the normal range and is not experiencing significant symptoms for Generalised Anxiety, Panic Disorder and Social Phobia.

Scoring and Interpretation Information

For comprehensive information on the RCADS-Parent, see here.

A Total Anxiety Scale score (sum of the 5 anxiety subscales) and a Total Internalizing Scale score (sum of all 6 subscales) are derived, with higher scores indicating increased symptom severity. In addition, scores are presented for each of the six subscales.

Scores are converted into percentiles and compared to the community sample (Ebesutani et al., 2011). It is important to note that the percentile scores compare scores to the entire cohort (aged between 8 -18). As scores vary significantly with age, derived percentile data should be interpreted with caution. A percentile score of 50 represents average levels of symptoms compared to the normative group, whereas a percentile above, for example, the 90th percentile indicates high levels of symptoms.

Sub-scales are computed by summing the following items:

Separation Anxiety: items 5, 9, 17, 18, 33, 45, 46

Social Phobia: items 4, 7, 8, 12, 20, 30, 32, 38, 43

Generalized Anxiety: items 1, 13, 22, 27, 35, 37

Panic Disorder: items 3, 14, 24, 26, 28, 34, 36, 39, 41

Obsessive-Compulsive: items 10,16, 23, 31, 42, 44

Major Depression: items 2, 6, 11, 15, 19, 21, 25, 29, 40, 47
