Scoring and Interpretation Information

For comprehensive information on the CMAS-other, see here.

All items are summed to provide an overall score, with higher scores indicative of more compassion to others. Subscale scores are also provided to enable a comparison between subscales:

1. Compassion Intention (items 1, 2, 3) - measuring the intent to be compassionate towards others
2. Compassion Distress Tolerance (items 4, 5, 6) - measuring the ability to tolerate distress when others are experiencing suffering

3. Compassionate Action (items 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12) - measuring compassionate actions and behaviours

A normative percentile for the total score and subscales are calculated based on a normative sample (Steindl et al., 2021), indicating how the respondent scored in relation to a typical pattern of responding for adults. For example, a percentile of 83 or less indicates the individual has more self-compassion than 83 percent of the normal population.

Results are presented in a graph, which indicates the percentile for total compassion and subscales compared to the normative sample, with a dotted line at 50 indicating average compassion towards others.
